CATALOG, MAILED ON REQUEST.

BEGONIAS

Luminosa, Prima Donna, Glorie de Chatalaine

We are pleased to advise our customers that we have succeeded this season in working up a good stock of Glorie de Chatalaine, that is now in splendid condition, good heavy two and three inch stuff. This is a Begonia that is never a surplus on the market, it is always a seller. Its clear, rosy pink flowers, abundantly produced, its dwarf compact habit, its propensity to be continually in flower makes it a plant that is always ready for use. It makes no difference whether it is a small three inch plant for such occasions as Sunday School plants, or in large specimens it can always be depended on.

Luminosa and Prima Donna are raised from seed of the famous Michell's strain. Luminosa in the well known red, bedding sort, also used in large quantities for Christmas, grown in large plants as individual plants and in the smaller size in making up plant baskets.

Prima Donna is a deep rose, shading to carmine, these are both excellent pot plants and bedding Begonias. They are free flowering and hold their foliage particularly well during the summer. They are also used extensively in window boxes, are especially well suited for semi-shaded positions.

For immediate shipment we offer good, strong stock:—

2-inch, $3.00 per 100, $27.50 per 1000

3-inch, 6.00 per 100, 50.00 per 1000

4-inch, 15.00 per 100.

THE HOLLY FERN

Cyrtosiphon Rockfordium

Among the many desirable ferns the Florist handles, you should not overlook the Holly fern. It is not only one of the best keepers when used in a fern dish arrangement, where it will outlast almost any of the numerous good Pteris we make use of, but as a plant for 5 inch and 6 inch pots, more should be grown by those that retail their own stock. The average Florist sells more Bostons than anything else; one of the reasons is that he has more of them than any other variety; in fact, there are a good many establishments where it is hard to find anything else. But others could be sold to advantage and at the same time as many Bostons as now. Where a Boston can be grown, it is also easy to grow a Holly fern, and if you have at this time good 2½ in. stock on hand, rather than let the plants suffer for the want of a shift, pay a little attention to them and grow them on into large specimens. For Christmas in particular, you have plenty occasion to make use of plants ranging from 3½ in. up to 6 in. in plant baskets where the Boston ferns would be out of place. Holly ferns and Winterberries go well with Poinsettias and Cyclamen, and frequently single plants can be sold to advantage. If you are short on stock, you can't do better than to purchase now a good supply of these ferns.

PALMS. KENTIA

On account of shortage of room for growing on, we have decided to offer a part of our Kentias this fall, instead of waiting until next spring, as we had intended. Our stock is exceptionally clean and healthy and will compare in quality very favorably with any stock in the country. The pot sizes are shipped without pots, the seven and eight inch are in cedar tubs and will be shipped in the tubs without charge for packing until cold weather.

OUR NEW DAHLIA PATRICK O'MARA

The sensation of the New York Show of the American Dahlia Society in 1920 where it was awarded the following: American Dahlia Society gold medal, Society of American Florists silver medal, Toronto Horticulture Society bronze medal, American Dahlia Society certificate of merit.

Received the highest score at the trial grounds of the American Dahlia Society at the Connecticut Agriculture College in 1920, under ordinary field culture.

Featured and praised alike by the daily papers and trade journals.

During the trying season of 1921 it maintained its reputation in every way, giving almost universal satisfaction all over the country and a prize winner wherever exhibited.

The flowers can be grown to enormous size by special care. Under ordinary field culture; they are about five to six inches in diameter, produced on long stems, which hold the flower erect. The color is an unusually soft and pleasing shade of orange buff, slightly tinged with neyon rose, a rare autumn shade that is greatly in demand. It is a splendid shipping and long-keeping Dahlia. We feel safe in saying there is none better for commercial use or more pleasing for the garden.

We offer a limited number of whole field clumps at $5.00 each, $400.00 per 100.

Single tubers for the retail trade at $25.00 per dozen, $150.00 per 100. The retail price is to be $3.00 each, for Spring delivery, tubers or plants.

OUR NEW DAHLIA PATRICK O'MARA

GERANIUMS

In regard to Geraniums. The summer has been most unfavorable for Geranium propagation, during the six weeks of hot weather in June and July we lost thousands of cuttings that we should have had to fill late Summer and Fall orders, while we have on hand quite a bunch of stock in three inch pots our list of varieties is somewhat deplete. We can only accept orders conditionally, that we have the varieties on hand, or can substitute. The hot weather has affected the stock that it is slow in starting into growth, so that it will be late in the Fall before we will have any quantity to offer, in fact, as far as we can find out this is the general condition existing throughout the Geranium market. Our advice is get what Geraniums you can and get them early. We only offer three inch at $4.50 per 100.

SCENTED GERANIUMS

Some of the scented Geraniums make very desirable window box plants, as they are not only graceful in their growth, but by being sweet scented impart a refinement to the boxes that cannot otherwise be produced.

The Rose and such kinds should be more extensively used as sprays among cut flowers, as they are favorites with most people.

Balm.—Large flower, upper petals white lilac, lower petals dark, large leaves, with very strong fragrance.

Capitatum.—Small cut leaf, rose scented.

Clorinda.—Deep green foliage, flowers of good size and quite an improvement in that respect, of a bright rose cerise shade, splendid winter bloomer, very free flowering.

Dale Park Beauty.—Pleasing and fragrant foliage, immense flowers, broad lower petals deep lilac, upper petals purplish crimson maroon, feathered dark maroon.

Felicifolium.—Very attractive on account of its beautiful fern-like foliage, both as a plant and when used among flowers, a great favorite.

Lady Mary.—Upper petals rose-lake shaded violet crimson, lower petals blush white, small flowers, very pleasing odor.

Mrs. Kingsbury.—Magenta crimson, shading lighter to a white eye, upper petals veined maroon, sweet scented foliage.

Oak Leaved.—Leaves somewhat resembling those of an oak leaf, dark chocolate center.

Pheasant's Foot.—Large foliage.

Quericifolium.—Oak-leaved foliage, leaf black centre, very attractive.

Rose.—The standard rose scented, a favorite since it was introduced.

Scarlet Unique.—Excellent habit, full scarlet flowers, blotched with maroon.

Schotteshampet.—Filbert scented.

Tomentosum.—Large, flat woolly foliage, highly scented with peppermint.

3-inch, $4.50 per 100, $45.00 per 1,000.

HARDY ENGLISH IVY

At this time we have on hand a large stock of strong Hardy English Ivy, the two inch will run from six to twelve inches, while the three inch will run from twelve inches to twenty inches or longer.
